tification and salvation. He denied that a sinner is saved by love, and while, of course, admitting that love was the controlling force in the plan, strongly stressed the points that the vicarious sacrifice was necessary in order to redemption, and that personal justification comes through the appropriation of the redemption by faith. All have been redeemed, and those who accept the benefits of the redemption are freed from the penalty of the law, which has been fully met by the Saviour's blood, and they can "reckon themselves dead to sin and alive to righteousness." The invitation to accept of the salvation so dearly bought and so frely affered was strong, earnest and tender, and made a profound impression, several manifesting their desire to be Christians.

The tent situated on the lot facing Marshall and between Nineteenth and Twemeth Streets continues to be filled nightly by a great throng of people who hear the great evangelist, Dr. L. W. Munhall, whose fame is extensive.

His sermons are powerful and there have been many conversions. The singing is excellent, under the direction of Professor Pugh. Perhaps the two greatest sermons Dr. Munhall has preached were that on the text, "What is man that Thou art mindful of him?" and the one on "The atoning blood."

One of the most learned and distinguished ministers of the Richmond pulpit said of the first named discourse, that it was a masterplece. The great congregation was held spell-bound during its delivery.

gatton was held, spell-bound during its delivery. The sermon on "The atoning blood" was a thoroughly orthodox theological discourse and was especially enjoyable to that class of Christians who think that there is a lamentable lack of doctrinal sermons now-a-days and too much generalization. One layman remarked to the writer that the discourse was one of the most enjoyable that he had listened to for twenty years. The able speaker repudiated the nefarious creed of the "fatherhood of God," which would shut out the atoning work of Jesus, and took some lively shots at the "higher criticism," which expunges eternal punishment and the old doctrine of blood redemption, justification and salvation. Viva Voce System in Legislative Primary.

NEW REGISTRATION BOOKS

These Will Be Used and Boards Wil Be Asked to Hurry Up Registration. Splendid Session of the City Committee.

The City Democratic Committee met last night and completed the plan under which the legislative primary is to be held on September 22d. The body incorporated a provision providing for the use of the new registration books and for the viva voce system of voting pure and simple, without the use of any balis similar to those usually adopted for city primaries. On both of the above questions there were lively fights, but the sections as finally adopted had the support of a large majority of the body

A committee was appointed to request Judge Witt to allow the use of the new registration books, and to ask the registration this fall prior to the date of the primary. The body adjourned to meet on Friday night, August 14th.

REPORTED PROMPTLY.

The committee was called to order at $15 o'clock, and Mr. Saunders, from the Committee on Plans, immediately reported a plan, and on his motion it was taken up and considered by sections.

The first section, relating to the opening of the polis at 6 A. a. and the closing of the same at $ P. M., was adopted without objection, an. Mr. Duke moved to amend section two by striking out 15 per day for the judges and clerks and inserting 33 per day instead. Mr. Saunders opposed the amendment, and it was favored by Messrs, Duke, Welch and Phillips. Mr. Folkes spoke for the plan, as did Mr. Taylor and others, and Mr. Shea moved that the per diem be made $1. All the amendments were rejected, and the section was adopted.

Section three, relating to who shall be allowed to vote, came up, and Mr. Saunders stated that the Plans Committee had conferred with Judge Witt and Mr. Richardson, and they had said the new books would not be available, and that therefore the old registration books would have to be used.

Mr. Shelld contended for the use of the new books, and cited law to show that no others could be legally or properly used, and he said he had gotten life advice from the Attorney-General's office.

TO USE NEW BOOKS.

Mr. Puller thought the registration boards should be asked to hold the second registration prior to the day set for the primary, and he made a ringing speech in favor of allowing only propely registered voters to participate in the primary. He pointed out that section 35 of the Constitution forbade the use of any but the new books in a legalized primary. The section was amended so as to provide for the use of the keep a substitute providing for the use of tickets, and thys brought the matter squarely before the books in the best and safest plan for an honest ballot.

as a guide, but not to be deposited with the judges.

STAND BY COMMITTEE.

The amendment was adopted, Mr. Duke's substitute rejected and the section as amended, adopted without division. The remainder of the plan, relating to returns police arrangements, appeals, etc., was adopted without further troubit, these sections being practically those usually adopted in primary plans in this city. The plan was then adopted as a whole, and a motion was made to reconsider and was rejected, so the plan was irrevocably made.

On motion of Mr. Saunders, Messrs, Doberty and Brockenbrough were appointed a committee to wait upon Judge Witt to ascertain if the new registration books could be secured, and to request witt to ascertain if the new registration books could be secured, and to request the registration boards to hold the next registration during the first ten days in
